

Gerard High Headmaster Appointed

The Rev. David M. Marshall, C.S. Sp., of Norwich, Conn., has been pointed headmaster of the new Catholic Gerard High School, 40th Street and Oak.

Father Marshall comes to Phoenix from Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, where he was head of the English department and assistant dean of the graduate school.

A native of Norwich, the new headmaster was ordained in 1946. He holds BA and MA degrees.

Rev. Marshall

Father Marshall's first appointment was to St. James' parish in Alexandria, La., where he served as professor of English and principal of St. James' High School.

Gerard, which opens in September, will be a four-year co-educational institute.
